

PRACTICAL INFORMATION

THE UNIVERSITY

Universidad Autónoma de Madrid is a public Institution that has become a landmark in the Spanish and International University context. Recognized for excelling in research and entrepreneurship, teaching excellence and civic engagement. Its international presence is supported through numerous exchange and training programmes with universities throughout the world open to students, teachers and other staff members.

The Universidad Autónoma de Madrid offers a wide range of undergraduate and graduate courses, some of them highly prestigious. Innovative teaching and research come together to define the nature of the UAM.

UAM's Multidisciplinary Doctoral School, also known as EDUAM, was established in December 2015 with the aim of organizing, managing, coordinating and supervising doctoral studies at UAM within the framework of its investigation strategy. The UAM Doctoral School is a key element in UAM's strategy to promote high quality training of researchers. It groups 35 PhD programs in the fields of Arts and Humanities, Sciences, Health Sciences, Social Sciences & Law, and Engineering. The UAM Doctoral School aims at improving the quality of doctoral studies, promoting their social and international projection, and encouraging transversal training activities to favor interdisciplinarity, while fostering respect for human rights, equality and social progress, and respect for a sustainable development.

ARRIVING IN MADRID

How to get to UAM from the airport

At the airport, you need to take the commuter train (Cercanías) at the Terminal 4 (T4). If you arrive in other terminals, you will find the free bus to the T4 at the exit.

From there, you catch the train, line C1 (Bright blue line) in direction to Principe Pío. You will have to get off at Chamartin Station and take the C4 line in direction to Cantoblanco Universidad station.

How to get to the city centre

By underground:

Metro line 8 connects the airport with the city center (T1, T2, y T3)

By train:

T4 is connected to the city centre by commuter train.

In case you want to go to Atocha station from the airport, you need to take the C1 line train.

If you want to reach Sol station, you will have to take the C1 line and get off at Nuevos Ministerios. Then take either C3 or C4 line to Sol station.

HOW TO GET TO UAM

Rail

By far the best way to reach the UAM university campus is by using Madrid's commuter train network Cercanías. The C-4 rail line reaches the University (both C-4 A and C-4 B) with a frequency of between 5 and 10 minutes. From Atocha Station, it takes about 25 minutes, 20 minutes from Sol Station and 15 minutes from Nuevos Ministerios station.

You will have to get off at Cantoblanco - Universidad. The university campus is located right next to the station. It takes 10 minutes walking to get to the Rectorate Building from the station.

- Line C-4A Parla – Atocha - San Sebastian de los Reyes
